THE FALL OF BOTTOMLEY.

Convicted of Blackmail and Thrashed in the Strand.

LOUDON, February 26.

In the High Court to day the Prudential Assurance Company applied to have Horatio Wharf. Bottomley imprisoned for contempt of Court in consequence of his having published in his paper, John Bull, articles attacking the Company for having refused to participate in his scheme for disposing of his financial responsibilities. The company declared that the articles were slanderous. Bottomley was submitted to a searching Cross-examination with the view of showing that John Bu I denounced financial swindlers and afterwards published their advertisements. Bottomley admitted that he authorised a barrister to hint to a representative of the Prudential Assurance Company that he would undertake to publish no further articles attacking the Company on condition that the letter agreed to his scheme for ridding him of his financial burdens.

The Judges, imposing a fine of 2100, said that Bottomley's svidence had been the chief factor in sonvincing them that the charge of blackmail had been established. It would be useless to inflict a heave fine, as the editors (creditors) of John Bull would have to pay it. SEQUEL TO A QUARRELL

Rome, Guglielmo Ferrero, in the Figure

(Paris), does not write optimistically about

the war and reems to think that the gumo is senreely worth the candle. The war, he says, is most popular among the ignorant

peasantry of Sicily and Calabria, who are elated at the prospect of having a "hinterland" in North Africa, and think that a sort of El Domdo lies beyond the sund

"While the hopes of Sicily, considered

from the hinterland point of view, must not be rekaned as wholly chimerical, it would be very difficult to say that they are likely to be fulfilled as completely and as rapidly as the mas es may believed. It is not enough to possess a hinterland in the South. The advantages of this are insignificant unless the territory can be quickly and successfully developed. If the ignorant are optimistic on this point, those-who know are much more frequently pes-striving to conquer and annex, and which the annexation of Tripoli is more likely to injure than benefit Sicily, and he tells us:

point of view of Italian interests, ought to have filled Sicilians with perturbation

rather than with enthusiasm. Northern Italy may possibly find in the population of this region, whether they be rich or poor,

a market for er industries. Sicily, on the costrary, may-find in these two African territorius a serious trado competitur.

Many of the spricultural productions of Sicily can be mised in the two A rican territories. And more than this, we are informed that many important sulphur beds are awaiting exploitation in Tripoli. If

THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF TH

The NAME CONTRACTOR OF the CHAPTER Total and Control of the Control of Call Section of the Tal 12 programme ware resurred to the Admiralty on Janeary 24 it was exproted by shipbuilders that the order would be placed within the first fortnight of the present month. The delagin coming to a decision is understood to bare becu due to a desire on the pure of the Admiralty to develop the strategical and brotical value of the abip in the light of the extensive alterations which are being made on the Lion cruisers, and it may be salumed that the most successful of the changes made in the Lion the Queen Mary, and the Princess Royal will be incorporated in the design of the next vessel of the class. It has been demonstrated that in such monster craft, where all the big guns are placed on the middle line, large and deep hilgs keels are absolutely essential, in order to counteract the rolling motion set up when the guns are being fired and during beavy weather. In view of the experience gained in recent trials it is not at all unlikely that the lines of the new thip may yet undergo some flaing amidships, so that these creat bilge keels-projecting beyond the breadth of the vessel-may be fitted, and so that at the same time it, may be possible for such a broad ship to enter exiting graving docks. The dock difficulty is a very real one, so far as the Admiralty are concerned. The limit in breadth has just about been reached in the Lion cruisers, if future vessels are to enter the existing dry docks, and Mr Churchill had good reason for urging when in Glasgow recently that the entrance to the Clyde Trust's new dock should be made of sufficient brendth. I/ much more is added to the bilge keels of warships they cannot enter existing docks at all.

DIMENSIONS OF NEW CHUISER.

So far not much of a definite character has been published concerning the dimensons of the rewest battle cruiser. She will be on somewhat similar lines to the Princess Royal, which is at present under construetion at Barrow. Her length will be 680ft. between perpendiculars and 702ft. over all. The brendth of the Princess Royal is 884/t., but the new battle-cruiser will be broader by 2ft. The designed horse-power, too, will show an advance. The shart horse power of the Lion was 70,000 and that of the Queen Mary 75,000, but it is understood that a great step forward will be made in the case of the new cruiser, which will develop between 86,000 and 87,000 indicated horsepower, giving a designed speed of over 30 knots. It is interesting to note the steady increase which has taken place in speed within recent years in large cruisers. The Black Prince, launched in 1904, and the Natal, a year later, had designed speeds of 22.3 knots. The Minotaur (1906) of 23 knots, the Invincible (1907) and the Indefatigable (1909, 25 knots, and the Lion (1910) 28 knots. In other respects the class has made a corresponding development, the vessel of the 1911-12 programme being 18 ft. longer than the Black Prince

The period covered by the 1911-12 programme expires on March 31, so that the order most be placed soon. As will be understood, there is keen competition for the ressel, which is worth between £2,000,000 and £3,000,000. The work, if t is considered advisable, may be given out as two orders, to separate firms—bull and inschinery respectively. There is a presumption in well-informed circles that 129 Clydebank and Elswick stand a botter chance of securing the work than any of he other offerers.

BEST LINIMENT

CLIGHT accidents and injuries are a froquent occurrence on the farm and in the work shop. A cut or bruise which is often the cause of much annoyance and loss of time, may be cured in about one-third the time usually required by applying Cham-Estlin's Pain Balm as soon as the injury is received. There is no danger of blood poisoning resulting from an injury when this liniment is applied before the parts become inflamed and swol'en. For sale by all Chemists and Storokeepers.

NEWS FROM HOME.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) LONDON, March 5. MOTOR VESSELA

The motor battleship has lagged behind. A gas destroyer is building; gas cruiser is believed to be projected. Both were set going by rumours of German motor battleship, which, however, has diminished to a ship with one-third her power supplied by auxiliary engines and even that is not authenticated. The Germans are "going slow." They have discovered, as we have, that motor battleships do not entail any really important reduction in superstructure and may need mele almost as worth as steamships.

"The advantage lies solely in increased radius and decreased engine-room staff; the disadvantages centre round increased trouble with a novelty. It is to the credit of the Admiralty that it has recognised these things in true perspective. Nearly twenty years ago we took the water tube boiler idea from our then enemy France. With turbines we took the lead. To-day we verge on saking whether the United States, which tends to hold a watching brief, was not wiser than we were. To-morrow—well, the turbine is not where it was two years ago. "These two considerations have caused the British Admiralty to act cautiously, with motor warships, and account exactly for the position of to-day. On the one hand, it has plans for the motor ships duly prepared; on the other it fears putting my like, and flaw to me directly I called them into use. This attitude is conservative, but at the same time rational. If fetes a sparrow I christened. Nicolas go Parliament will cauction a ship over and above the bare absolute minimum, the naval authorities are prepared to take the risk of building one of the new type, which, f successful, will give us a headway at least equal to that secured by the much advertised first Droadnought, but if it wil not the risk is rather too great to taken."

The ismous Scandingvian explorer and author, Syen Hedin, has published defeat the passage of the Conciliation Bill or any similar measure. Thus we see Lord Weardale, a Liberal, and Lord Curzon, an equally promounced Conservative, appearing as joint-presidents of the "antie," while a number of waverers both in the Lords and Commous have now definitely joined the opposition. Probably no more supid tactics have ever been adopted by any party than this window smashing outburst, for the blow has been of boomerang effect against the cause it was intended to forward.

RIRDS OF THE TULLERIES.

M. Poi, a familiar figure in the life of Paris, whose eyes have benefited by the hopes to be back again in the Tuileries Gardens among his little flock, with his cigar, his napking and his bread crusts. Be has confided to the New York Herald how he started on his career as a hirdcharmer. " Every morning on my way to the telegraph office I sat down on a bench to read the paper and there I became sequeinted with the birds. People often express surprise at my power of distinguishing them one from another, but as matter of fact every single sperrow is different from its fellows, and you would hardly believe how quickly they learn to answer to their names. "My first friend was a little hen aper row, whom I called Jeannette. She perched on my thumbs, took crumbs from her. At the time of the Franco-Russian to know me so well that he found me on as I stood in the thick of a crowd in th Rue de Rivoli.

During the Transvaal war I had little friend, the little Boer, as I calle him, who would answer to nothing but a invitation given in English . Come here little bird. After that I trained a Chamberiain, to fight with the little Boer, but he went beyond my instructions and fought with every other hird at random. Then there was Toto : he liseppeared strong brochure that has sold to the extent for a long time, and eventually I found him of a million copies, simed obviously at sgain in another quarter where he had strangthoning the demand for stronger established a nestal We recognised each Calabria payal and military forces in Sweden, The other perfectly easily There was Euroki, ples of the writer is that Rossis is poshing too (named after the famous Japanese Macso) Tehing Tinggl (Dell), Palett lang, Rota, persistently to the set and means to get | general who won the bathle of the Yalu) | Patris there regardless of what effort, expense, or | and the American. It is not her fault that this is so, and I am the last person to deny that there is often latent in this type of women much that is both fine and vigorous. But it would be idle to pretend that the girl who shops in Kensington High-street and spends two or three days a week on suburban golf links in any way answers the year requirements of a new country. Nor is her less fortunate and more industrious sister who has by stress of circumstances been forced to take up secretarial or artistic vork much more fitted for it."

Mrs GROSVENOR certainly faces the facts boldly. As she says, "When a girl is young, healthy, and high-spirited, while her father is still leaving the steamer yesterday fell on earning a good professional income, the what and sustained injuries which she can doubtless have a good time in Britain, can get her fill at small. expense of dances and parties and theatres, or the various mild forms of intellectual or artistic recreation. the exercise of the domestic arts." This is a serious indictment, yet we all know that it is based on actuality. Mrs. GROSVENOR sees a remedy if the | 25 women of England will but face the facts as she does. As she says, "While the girls on this side of the water shop and play golf, entertain each other at tea, play bridge or attend lectures as the fancy takes them, turning gradually into more or less disappointed, unmarried old women, on the other side of the water a small but heroic band of women does the work which it would take three women in the older country to do, of the Christian era. besides bearing and rearing a new work-and-help." What the Overseas. dominions require are domestic women make appeal, and we gather that the aim of the Colonial Intelligence League is to bring about a change in the educational system of England whereby this old fashioned type of femalecan again be produced to meet the needs of the new countries. We read that "the Colonial Intelligence League aims at telling the truth and the whole truth to the editcated women of England about the life overseas. It paints no resente pictures of immediate ease and wealth, yet it points out the immense hopefulness, the infinite possibilities which the life offers." It intends to do more than this. Through the head mistresses public and secondary schools for cals; seven of whom are on the committee, it hopes to instil into the rising generation a better understanding of the the movement, and a reward of £1,000 was problem of its future, and to influence parents in the same direction. Mr. Potter, who appeared for the defendants, saw he thought the facts of the case were of a mivial painte. Unfortunately a serious outcome had taken place in connection with the affair, and out for that he thought the case would have compled only a very short time. So far as the defendants were obnostned there. was no suggestion that they wore either directly or indirectly responsible for the blow that was struck against Sgit. Attawell. The magistrate said that there was not sufficient evidence against the defendants to warrant a conviction, and he secordingly discharged them.

There was a counter charge which Mr Irving also dismissed.

REVIEWS.

The Town of Orocked Ways, by J. S. FLETCHER. Bell'a Colonial Liberry.

This is a rather sombre story, pitched in the activitie key so much beloved by Mr. Thomas Hardy. It deals with several persons who played no unimportant part in the life of a little Yorkshire town, which the author calls Normansholt. An unlovely lot they are in the aggregate, their principal business in life being to get as much " brass " as possible and then to flaunt it before the eyes of their neighbours. Keenly suspicious of one snother, they gossip and destroy each other's reputations as regularly as the sun rises and sets. Big exters, bigger drinkers with a reputation for being laviah and freehanded in their hospitality they really saw to it that they did not give any-..... 87 4 83 thing away for nothing. GOVERNMENT'S HOPE.

The Times states that the Government hopes the miners will seize on the Bill as an excuse to return to work. Failing resumption, the Government has planned effective measures for the relief of distress, and will probably call out the Reserves to protect the workers.

The Times, says a brief joint conferonce was held yesterday. As the result of a Government ruse, the coal owners went to Downing st. to meet the Government, but were recentfully surprised to find the miners' representatives there.

The Monmouth and South Wales coal owners have each contributed £1,000 to the relief funds at Cardiff, Swansen and Newport, and the South Yorkshire coal owners have contributed £2,000 each for the relief of local distress.

COMMONS PASS BILL.

The third reading of the Bill was cargied by 213 to 48 at 2.50 this morning. The House of Lords immediately sat for the first reading, which was carried.

Mr Lloyd George voted with the majority on the 5/- and 2/- minima amendment. The minority on this amendment included fifty Radicals. - number of other amendments, including several moved by the Government, were disposed of.

SELF OR COUNTRY, WHICH?

A most notable speech on the debate was that by the Miners' Federationist, Mr Walsh, who said that when the Bill was passed, it was the duty of every well wisher of the country to make the best of it. "Our citizenship ought to be higher than our trades unionism." he said.

MINERS MEET.

The Daily News states that the Miners' Federation met to-day to conaider the Government proposal to establish a National Wages Board, and to consider the 5/- and 2/- minima on the understanding that the miners will gesume work immediately these two points are settled. There were 3,200 miners working yesterday.

HOUSE OF LORDS DEBATE.

The House of Lords was crowded for the second reading of the Coal Bill, all stages of which will be taken to-night. Lord Crewe, in the course of a speech, declined to assume the possibility of the Bill being a failure. He stated that it met the miners' wishes so far as they could be met by legislation, and he hoped they would accept it.

Lord Lansdowne pointed out that in the debate on the Address the Government rejected the principle of a minimum wage, and were now converted to it not by the grievances of the miners but by the appearance of a colossal conspiracy making the miners grievances a prefext for their action. The Government had I Dandy Prat (Maher), and Star of Doon not realised the dangers shead. The Bill had no finality and left the miners'. leaders with the power at any time to sentence the country to starvation and rain and to humiliate and paralyse the nation perhaps at a time when it most needed its strength. Any attempt to alter the Bill, however, wonki only emberrass the Government and prolong the suspense. The Opposition therefore. would not move any amendment but would place on record its doubts of the wisdom and justice of the measure The Bill carried its own Memens would be epoch-making. NEW MUSIC.

We have received from Mesers Enoch and Son an interesting selection of their latest songs. They are, for the most part bright and tyneful, the majority of them being from the pent of composers who have hitherto found much success as song writers. The songs will doubtless prove alike enjoyable to those who atudy them and they are not particularly difficult and to those to whom they are randered. They are quite the style of compessitions which at present find much favour on concert platforms, and, if sung in accordance with the composers' ideas, give scope for much fine effect. Some delightful rhythms will be found in . Lost as good fish in the sea, by Mr H. G. Polissier, of the Peggy Dean . " Under the Linden Tree (Bds Lasky): Where sunbeams dance. (Obscide Descrip) Jord Love sprint line," (John. W. Metcalle), et Most of these are treated in an uncommon but convincing style! Son a which should also find a place amongst monolovers collections are "One and of dreams" which is one of Jack Thompson a characwork with a lanto movement For
